

TPI 775 Sensor Locations & Function

Back View

- The combustible gas sensor located at the tip of the gooseneck is used only for the detection of combustible gases like natural gas, propane, butane, etc. This sensor does not detect carbon monoxide.
- The carbon monoxide sensor is located at the top back of the 775 and is used to test for carbon monoxide in ambient air. This sensor does not detect combustible gases.